INTRODUCTION

What is Retail?

The word “Retail” is derived from the French word “Retailer meaning to cut a piece off or to break bulk. In simple terms it involves activities whereby product or services are sold to final consumers in small quantities. Although retailing in its various formats has been around our country for many decades, it has been confined for a long time to family owned corner shops

Englishmen are great soccer enthusiasts, and they strongly think that one should never give Indians a corner. It stems from the belief that, if you give an Indian a corner he would end up setting a shop. That is how great Indians Retail management skill is considered

Overview of retail industry:

The sale of goods are commodities in small quantities directly to consumer is known as retailing. A “retailer” buys goods or products in large quantities for manufacturing or imports either directly or through a wholesaler and then sells smaller quantities to the end user.

Retail is India's largest industry, account for over 10 percent of the country's GDP and around 8 percent of employment. Retail in India is the crossroads. it has emerged as one of the most dynamic and fast paced industries with several players entering the market. That said, the heavy initial investments required made break even hard to achieve and many players have not tasted success to date. However, the future is promising; the market is growing, government policies are becoming more favourable and emerging technology and facilitating operations.

The Indian retail industry is valued at about $300 billion and is expected the growth of $ 427 billion in 2010 and $637 billion in 2015 only 3 percent of Indian retail is organized. Retailers of multiple brands can operate through a franchise or a cash-and-carry A wholesale model

Retailing in India is really gradually in charge it's way to becoming the next boom industry. The world concept of shopping has allotted in terms of format and customer buying behaviour, ushering in a revolution in shopping. Modern retail has entered India as seen in sprawling building shopping centres, multi-storage malls and huge complexes offer shopping, entertainment and food all under one roof.

The Indian retailing sector is at an inflection point where the growth of organised retail and growth in the consumption by India's is going to adopt a higher growth trajectory. The Indian population is witnessing a significant change in its demographics. A large young working population with medium age of 24 years, nuclear family in urban areas along with increasing working women population and emerging opportunities in the service sector are growing to be the key growth drivers of the organised retail sector.

WHAT DOES THE RETAILING INDUSTRY INCLUDE?

- Department Stores
- Discount Stores
- Clothing Stores
- Specialty retailers
- Convenience Stores
- Grocery Stores
- Drug Stores
- Home furnishing retailers
- Auto Retailers
- Direct Sales Catalo and mail order companies
- Some e-commerce businesses

THE IMPORTANCE OF RETAILING

- Organized retailing in India was estimated at Rs.18, 000 crores in 2002-2003 and has grown at about 40% over the last 3 years (Source KSA Retail Outlook).
- Retailing has a tremendous impact on the economy. It involves high annual sales and employment. As a major source of employment retailing offers a wide range of career opportunities including; store management, merchandising and owning a retail business.
- Consumers benefit from retailing in that, retailers perform marketing functions that makes it possible for customers to have access to a broad variety of products and services. Retailing also helps to create place, time and possession utilities. A retailer's service also helps to enhance a product's image.
- Retailers participate in the sorting process by collecting an assortment of goods and services from a wide variety of suppliers and offering them for sale. The width and depth of assortment depend upon the individual retailer's strategy.
- They provide information to consumers through advertising, displays and signs and sales personnel. Marketing research support is given to other channels, members.
- They store merchandise, mark prices on it, place items on the selling floor and other wise handle products; usually they pay suppliers for items before selling ,them to final customers. They complete transactions by using appropriate locations, and timings, credit policies, and other services e.g. delivery.

COMPANY PROFILE

RELIANCE GROUP

The Reliance Group, founded by Dhirubhai H. Ambani (1932-2002), is India's largest private sector enterprise, with businesses in the energy and materials value chain. Group's annual revenues are in excess of USD 27 billion. The flagship company, Reliance Industries Limited, is a Fortune Global 500 company and is the largest private sector company in India. Backward vertical integration has been the cornerstone of the evolution and growth of Reliance. Starting with textiles in the late seventies, Reliance pursued a strategy of backward vertical integration – in polyester, fibre intermediates, plastics, petrochemicals, and oil and gas exploration and production – to be fully integrated along the material and energy value chain. The Group's activities span exploration and production of oil and gas, petroleum refining and marketing, petrochemicals (polyester, fibre intermediates, plastics and chemicals), textiles and retail. Reliance enjoys global leadership in its business. The Group exports products in excess of USD 15 billion to more than 100 countries in the world. There are more than 25,000 employees on the rolls of Group Companies. Major Group Companies are Reliance Industries Limited (including main subsidiaries Reliance Petroleum Limited and Reliance Retail Limited) and Reliance Industrial Infrastructure Limited.

REALIANCE SMART POINT

Reliance SMART is a new age multi-purpose specialty supermarket store, founded in 2016. Reliance SMART offers a one stop shopping experience by offering fresh produce, bakery, dairy products, grocery, crockery, clothing, etc. In addition to that, to make it more easily accessible and feasible, it has also started a website called Reliancesmart.in which delivers over 6000+ products at the customer's preferable place, be it home, office or on the move. The website is easily operable which makes it preferable for most customers to use. Also, on-time delivery is another one of their services that tempts the customer to its fullest. Over 6000+ products including grocery, bakery, dairy, crockery, etc. at lower rates than the MRP at your doorstep, well that's the dream of every customer and Reliance have make sure of fulfilling that dream. Reliance SMART's main objective is to target a larger amount of people for their daily and monthly household shopping. Its main target audience is women, particularly housewives because household products at prices lower than MRP attracts housewives precisely. Recently, approximately 30 more stores have been opened and it has total 127 numbers of stores all over India. It started its operations from Mumbai and Pune, but now there are Reliance SMART's stores in almost all the big cities of India. Over 100 Reliance stores, primarily in value and jewellery formats were closed to start the operations of Reliance SMART. History Reliance SMART, with Mukesh Ambani as its Chairman, Damodar Mall as its Chief Executive Officer and Prasana

Shah as its Chief Merchandising Officer, started their operations in 2016 by shutting the shops which were unprofitable and replacing them by the concept of Reliance SMART

Marketing Strategies

1. Push Strategies: Push marketing is a promotional strategy where businesses attempt to take their products to the customers. The term push stems from the idea that marketers are attempting to push their products at consumers. Common sales tactics include trying to sell merchandise directly to customers via company showrooms and negotiating with retailers to sell their products for them, or set up point-of-sale displays. Often, these retailers will receive special sales incentives in exchange for this increased visibility.

"Taking the product to the customer"

2. Pull Strategies: Pull marketing, on the other hand, takes the opposite approach. The goal of pull marketing is to get the customers to come to you, hence the term pull, where marketers are attempting to pull customers in. Common sales tactics used for pull marketing include mass media promotions, word-of-mouth referrals and advertised sales promotions. From a business perspective, pull marketing attempts to create brand loyalty and keep customers coming back, whereas push marketing is more concerned with short-term sales

Major Achievements

Reliance has merited a series of awards and recognitions for excellence for businesses and operations,

Leadership

- Shri Mukesh Ambani, Chairman & Managing Director, RIL, has been nominated to at key advocacy group of Millennium Development Goals, whose mandate includes finding ways to fight socio-economic evils such as poverty, by the United Nations in 2010. Shri Ambani is the only Indian to be a part of the MDG Advocacy Group that comprises eminent international personalities.
- Shri Mukesh Ambani has been re-elected as Vice Chairman of the Business Council for Sustainable Development's (WBCSD) Executive Committee for a second consecutive term in 2010.
- The Foundation Board of the World Economic Forum (WEF) elected Shri Mukesh Ambani on its Board. WEF's mission is to improve the state of the world and the elected board members make valuable contributions to this mission through their involvement.

Retail

- Reliance Footprint received the Retailer of the Year Award in the Non Apparel and Footwear category at Asia Retail Congress 2010.
- Reliance TimeOut received the Retailer of the Year Award in the Leisure Category at Asia Retail Congress 2010.
- Vision Express was bestowed the 'Award 2010' for its contribution by the Netherlands India Chamber of Commerce and Trade in 2010.

Experience During Internship

The purpose of internship was to get the inclination of the customers towards the Reliance brand and to enhance the chance of better service by gathering the view points of the customers towards present services. During the training program, all the interns were trained to how they should approach the customers to get their reviews on the structured questionnaire and what are the essential information which needed to be covered during the interaction with the customers.

The internship program was of three weeks During these I have collected the responses of the customers visiting the store and with the help of the questionnaire, the actual footfall and the queries in the store were brought to notice.

CONCLUSION

- Reliance is a convergent play between the manufacturing and services businesses company at the crossroads of the old and new economy. Reliance's superior operational and financial performance reflects its global competitiveness, prudent business strategies, and ability to maintain profitability through business cycles. Reliance is committed to a conservative financial framework, and a consistent to maximize overall shareholder value.
- In the conclusion, we would like say that EDLP (Every day low pricing) strategy is the most effective strategy to grow speedily in competitive environment.
- Cost saving at each process or procedure by implementing system or strategic IT (Information Technology) in the retail chain, company can increase their margin and can pass the saving cost to customer in the form of low pricing compare to other retailer.
- This in turn increase the volume for the retail chain. Retail is volume driven business instead of price or margin driven business.
- In short, smooth business process at the lowest possible cost is heart of any retail chain in such a competitive environment.
